

Alejandro Martinez discovered his passion for real estate while working as an Airman in the United States Air Force. The requirement of moving every four years led him to experience all that it takes to find the perfect home for his family. After retirement, he obtained his real estate license in 2022. His military experience has instilled in him the necessary disciplines to succeed in the real estate industry: excellent customer service, a commitment to work hard, communication, and follow-through. Alejandro strives to be someone to whom his clientele and colleagues can put their trust and faith. He values quality service to build relationships with clients. He wants to be known for his integrity, diplomacy, and honesty. Alejandro will provide the same unmatched service to buyers.
